

Forensic Support Services.

CareChoice works collaboratively with NDIS participants who have forensic needs, as well as their case managers and other forensic service providers.

We support people with disability who are living in the community on justice orders and/or undertaking compulsory treatment, as well as those who are re-entering the community from a custodial environment.

We support the

ndis

We are dedicated to supporting their ongoing needs in the community while they work towards achieving their NDIS-specific goals.

Our specialised teams, led by industry professionals, provide client-centred approaches aligning with strength-based practices to:

Support therapeutic jurisprudence

Improve each client's quality of life to promote a non-offending lifestyle

Enhance community safety

Taking care further

Forensic Support Services.

Our approach draws from a positive psychology model which includes focusing on the person's strengths. We work holistically with clients who are experiencing multiple and complex needs such as:

- ▶ mental illness
- ▶ intellectual impairment
- ▶ substance use
- ▶ acquired brain injury
- ▶ physical disabilities.

We take a psychoeducational approach to support the client with their goals and to build capacity and means to lead a non-offending lifestyle.
